

How growing or using recreational marijuana may impact your home insurance

The consumption, possession and growing of recreational cannabis was legalized in Canada in late 2018. While the legalization of recreational cannabis is still quite new, many Canadians are starting to wonder how this change may impact their home insurance premiums or their ability to secure coverage.

Learn more at www.otipinsurance.com/article86

